ALBERT SCOWCROFT IS QUOTED ON OGDEN PICTURES

(From the Current Issue of the "Motion Picture News.")

Albert Scowcroft, the president of the Ogden Pictures Corporation, leaves for Ogden, Utah this week, after having seen the establishment of the eastern executive office of that company well on its way. Mr. Scowcroft states that his visit to the East was for the purpose of securing a competent eastern manager of productions and general representative.

"Our eastern organization is now completed," said Mr. Scowcroft, "and the second Lillian Walker extraordinary attraction will be made in the East; the third will be made at Ogden, Utah, the fourth at Los Angeles and the remaining four of the first year series will also be made in the East. I shall report to my co-directors the progress we have made and will present to them a plan of enlarged operations that will call for an extensive scheme of advertising, publicity and exploitation. We know that we have made no mistake up to this point. What those plans are, however, cannot be given to the trade at this time, excepting to state that we hope to teach the photoplay public a few additional startling innovations that will convince them of the wonders that motion pictures can really perform. Several such innovations, we are advised by our attorneys are patentable and we have applied for patent rights on them. When I state that I hope to present to the world, through the medium of Ogden Pictures, a stereoscopic form of photography that will present the characters of the screen almost as if they were in the flesh and on the stage, you can well appreciate what I mean.

Mr. Scowcroft will return to New York when his present picture is completed.

The same publication also publishes the following:

"Twelve novels and no less than forty plays with fifty original manuscripts in addition were submitted as possible vehicles for Miss Lillian Walker's pictures this last week. The Ogden Pictures Corporation states that while many of them were worthy of production, none of them met the high standard which has been set for the Lillian Walker releases and none of them were considered suitable for Miss Walker's peculiar and unusual talents, and so the search must continue until the proper material is found.

"Miss Walker's work on the screen must contain a dramatic element, with a strong vein of refined comedy proper for a six or seven reel production that might be classed as a special. Up to this point it has been the company's greatest difficulty to secure just such a vehicle.

"The Ogden Pictures Corporation control the rights of three novels, but require twelve more to cover the entire series of eight a year for the next two years."

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of commissioner, four-year term. My name will be submitted to you at the coming primary election to be voted on for that office.

I favor pursuing the same policy in conducting the city's business as corporations and firms follow—honesty, economy and publicity, carefulness in making contracts and living up to them when made, and if elected my effort will be to so conduct the affairs of our city, thereby conforming to the spirit and intent of the commission form of government.

CURREY NO DESERTER, ACCORDING TO A LETTER

Herbert Miles Currey, the man who was supposed to have accompanied the second army contingent from Ogden to American Lake, and whose name was posted as that of a deserter when he did not report, has written the board from Nafton, Utah, to learn his position in the liability list. Currey evidently did not receive his notification for appearance and has been under the impression that he has not been summoned. From the tone of the letter, the city draft officials are of the opinion that he is the victim of some miscarriage in the procedure of his case and think he has not been voluntarily trying to evade the call. He says in his letter that he has received no word of his standing or order to appear for examination.

Currey had written the district board in Salt Lake for information about his case but was advised by it to communicate with the local board at Ogden. He has filed claim for exemption with the district board on the grounds of dependents.

Nels Arthur Jacobson of St. Paul, Minn., who is living at 115 Twenty-sixth street, Ogden, has wired the draft board at St. Paul to see if he cannot go from Ogden to American Lake training camp instead of having to go back to St. Paul and be sent to a camp from there. He has been summoned to appear before the St. Paul board but is still in Ogden. He discussed the matter with Mayor Heywood yesterday and was told to wire the eastern board to inquire if he could not join the army here.

Thad Thomas Miller of Pocatello, Idaho, was examined for the draft army yesterday by county board physician and passed. He claimed that he had been shot in the leg about five years ago and was not in good physical condition. The doctor had him rise on his toes and hop about the room and perform several other foot antics and found that his gunshot claim did not affect his muscles. He says he is an American citizen, born of German parents and does not want to go to war. He will file an exemption claim. Officials of the draft board say, on the grounds of a wife and mother to support.

Royal D. McCarthy, of Cascade county, Montana, was examined by the city physicians yesterday and declared fit for service. Claims for release from the draft were filed yesterday by Louis J. Becraft, Jr., and William Lowther on the grounds of dependents.

SAFE REMEDY FOR CHILDREN
Every parent is, or should be, careful in giving medicine to children. Chas. Baker, Brownsville, Tex., writes: "For some years past I have used Foley's Honey and Tar and have found it especially efficient for bad coughs of my children. I always recommend it to my friends as a safe remedy for children as it contains no opiates. My wife would not think of using any other kind of cough medicine as it is certain to bring quick and lasting relief." It checks croup.—McIntyre Drug Co.—Advertisement.
